Thank you for taking the OCN® Individual Learning Needs Assessment (ILNA). The table below summarizes your performance in each content area, based on the portion of items you answered correctly within that content area.

Performance Summary

Content Area	Weaker / Stronger	ILNA Points Required
Health Promotion, Screening, and Early Detection		0 Points Required
Scientific Basis for Practice		9 Points Required
Treatment Modalities		16 Points Required
Symptom Management		0 Points Required
Psychosocial Dimensions of Care		0 Points Required
Oncologic Emergencies		0 Points Required
Survivorship		8 Points Required
Palliative and End of Life Care		0 Points Required
Professional Performance		0 Points Required
		Total Points Required: 33

Please retain this report. You must earn professional development points in each of the content areas marked as ILNA points required in the table above. The number of points that must be earned in a specific area matches the weighting of that content area in the test blueprint. A minimum of 25 points is required for renewal. If your required total is less than 25, you will earn the additional ILNA points in any of the content areas listed above to total at least 25 ILNA points.

You can begin earning ILNA points as of the date you took the assessment. Professional development activities completed before this date will not be accepted toward your next certification renewal.

ONCC will send you an email in a few weeks with details about how to access LearningBuilder. Keep documentation (e.g., CE certificates) of professional development activities you complete. You will need this information when recording your ILNA points in your Learning Plan. This documentation will be submitted through LearningBuilder along with your renewal application.
